7. METHODOLOGY

7.1 Methodology for the treatment of the theoretical contents :

The methodology of the theoretical contents of the subject is based on dynamic and interactive lecture and workshop sessions. The lectures involve critical debate; and the workshops are built around in-class presentations. These classes will be supplemented with electronic learning materials and resources. A specific virtual classroom within Blackboard Learn (web-based communication tool) will be used to share information and encourage interaction between staff and students. All materials will be available on the virtual classroom.

7.2 Methodology for the treatment of practical content:

Practical contents are based on cases analyses and the use of a marketing simulation game. Cases analyses are discussed in class. Students will complete assigned tasks and submit through the virtual classroom. For the simulation game, students have the software they can install it on their own computers. Also, support material for the simulator is available for all students.

Teaching innovation

Call: Innovación y buenas prácticas docentes

Group: Mejora en la adquisición de competencias a través de simuladores de marketing

The subject Strategic Marketing joins to the call for Groups of Teaching Innovation. In this sense, this course aims to promote the continuous improvement of teaching activities by the use of simulation software as an innovation in teaching, included in the evaluation system and analysing their usefulness on the part of the student. The simulator considered for this academic year is Quantum.

9 EVALUATION SYSTEM

9.1 Aspects and/or criteria:

The subject will be evaluated preferably following a system of continuous assessment. However, there will be an evaluation system alternative, in order to allow study the subject to those who cannot attend class or follow the evaluation methodology keep going. In the latter case, he/she has to notify the teacher.

9.2 Modalities and instruments:

Continuous assessment system and Alternative evaluation system.

9.3 Marking system:

a) Continuous assessment system. The rating is formed from the following percentages:

- Written exam (weight = 50%) (Evaluation of skills UAL1, UAL5, DIC02, DIC03).
- Assignments and cases analyses (weight = 20%) (Evaluation of skills UAL5, DIC02, DIC03).
- Implementation and results obtained with the simulation (weight = 30%) (Evaluation of skills DIC02, DIC03).

It is required to pass each part of the evaluation system (5/10) to pass the course.

b) Alternative evaluation system, with a test, through which you can get up to 80% of the total score of the subject. The remaining 20% is classroom activities that cannot be evaluated. It is required to notify the teacher start of the course on the preference for this system.
