6.2. PRACTICAL CONTENTS:

The students will prepare compositions and presentations related to some topics of the theoretical contents on the basis of additional audio-visual and printed material provided by the lecturer, especially about the following themes:

- Home learning vs. public schooling
- Traditional and modern education
- Education in the Second Spanish Republic
- Education during the Franco Dictatorship
- Inclusive Schooling
- Interpretation of articles published in newspapers during different periods of time
- Comparison of pre-primary and primary schools in different countries

7. METHODOLOGY

7.1 Methodology for the treatment of the theoretical contents :

The lecturer will introduce every unit. Texts with contents related to each topic will be available on WebCT. Students will read the texts at home or in class. The theories will be discussed in class. Understanding of the theories will be guaranteed by individual monitoring. Additionally, audio-visual material (videos and movies) and electronic resources (virtual museums, libraries, etc.) will be used to convey the theoretical contents. If the students wish to do so, study trips to pedagogical museums or exhibitions will be organised.

7.2 Methodology for the treatment of practical content:

Printed and audio-visual material, as well as electronic resources related to the topics of the practical classes, will be available on WebCT. After a common reading of texts and watching the movies, the students will prepare presentations and/or written essays on the topics in group work. Presentations and essays will follow the instructions given by the professor. Work groups will present and discuss their essays and presentations in class. Additionally to the group work, the students will present a personal research on a topic proposed by the professor. Individual and autonomous location of sources, just as respecting the rules for academic writing will be essential.

9 EVALUATION SYSTEM

9.1 Aspects and/or criteria:

The following criteria will constitute the basis of the evaluation of the presentations and essays presented in the practical classes, the contributions to the in-class debates and to online newsgroups, the individual research work and the final written exam:

- Mastering the basic contents of the course.
- Ability to use academic vocabulary in order to reflect on the course topics.
- Clear and correct presentation of ideas.
- Capacity to establish relationships between different topics.
- Using academic resources.
- Ability to organize the contents in a coherent structure.
- Capacity to understand and correctly apply fundamental concepts.

9.2 Modalities and instruments:

The evaluation will be carried out as a continuous evaluation. Students will have to comply with the following conditions:

- Compulsory attendance of at least 85% of the classroom lessons.
- Participation in classroom and online activities.
- Preparation of presentations and/or essays related to the topics of the practical classes. The student will provide the necessary material and design the methodological strategies for the learning process of her/his fellow students and the lecturer. Some materials will be published on the virtual platform, so that they have to be suited for that purpose.
- Multiple choice tests.

9.3 Marking system:

The aforementioned evaluation instruments will be applied according to the criteria of the instructor responsible for the group. Passing the course requires having passed the theoretical and the practical part.

The marking system will follow Spanish regulations (0 – 10 points).
